Another Message

So dark! so dark! but there's a light
Your faltering feet may find:
For you are lead and guided on—
You're not entirely blind.

There is a light that you can see
As you lift up your eyes
When you have climbed the briery way
Up to God-given skies.

And tho the darkness seems complete
Nor any ray of light
To penetrate the heavy clouds
Encompassing your night.

Your grief, your love, your cry,
Will rise
And out of pains release
You'll find, resigned, a glory sweet
Commensurate with peace.

—Nancy Orpha Parke.

Presbyterial Met At Holden February 3

The Annual Presbyterial of the Wainwright Presbyterial was held at Holden on Friday, February 3rd. Delegates and visitors were present from all the Auxiliaries in the Presbyterial.

The morning devotionals were given by the Irma Auxiliary. There was in three parts—Seek, Pray and Witness with this thought, "Just live close, you don't have to ask, just stay close."

The president, Mrs. L. Hamilton, gave a short address on our slogan for 1949—"Advance" in all departments and closed her address with this question and challenge: "From where do we get our leaders?" It is in our Baby Bands we will get our future leaders. We must advance in organizing more Baby Bands.

The highlight of the afternoon was the address of Miss Anne Copithorne of Angola Africa. She told of the tremendous need in Africa today. Young Africa is awakening and crying for teaching to break away from superstition and fear. There are places in Angola where there has been no missionary visitor for 18 years. The African Christian can't carry on without our help because they so completely surrounded by "fears." They need more dispensers, more evangelists. We can help in this matter by going over our allocations.

The young African evangelists give their all in hunger and fear in order to teach, preach and heal among the lepers. The difficulties are tremendous. Can we do or give less than they?

Advance was noted in all departments. The temperance secretary left with thoughts with us: "When man finds God he has no need for alcohol." We have a great responsibility in this matter.

During the afternoon we were favored with a beautiful duet, "The Stranger of Gallilee" by Miss Liden and Miss Geibelhaus and the CGIT Choir sang "I Would Be True." These musical numbers were much enjoyed.

Mr. McKay of Holden conducted the installation service and gave the benediction.

The Holden Auxiliary was our hostesses and made us all very welcome. Thank you, Holden.

World's Day Of Prayer

What is the World's Day of Prayer? It is one day in the year—always the first Friday in Lent—when all the women of the world meet in their villages, towns and cities to pray for the Peace of the World, for Missionaries, for the Children of the World, for the Leaders of the different nations and for all those in need of Divine help.

The beauty of this service is in its simplicity and the fact that the same service, written in many languages, is used by women of all nationalities. This year the major portions of this service were prepared by a Japanese woman, Miss Michi Kawai, founder of Keisen Girls' School, Japan. How it reminds us of the oneness of God, the Father of us all, no matter the color of our skin, the language we speak, or what our social status.

The service for the women of Irma and surrounding districts this year will be held in St. Mary's Anglican church on Friday, February 24, at 4:00 p.m. If the weather should be extremely cold, the service will be held in the United church. A most hearty invitation is extended to all women to join in this service. Let us all remember "more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of," and with the discovery of the hydrogen bomb, how very necessary it is to pray that men's knowledge shall be used for the betterment rather than the destruction of the world. Please think deeply about this and join us in our prayers on Friday, February 24, at 4:00 p.m.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

The Old Neutralizer

"I Ain't Got The Heart To Kill Even A Rabbit."

By GENE HANSON

LITTLE Joe MacFee was mighty impressed the first time he heard a cowpoke refer to his shooting iron as "the old equalizer."

The phrase stuck in his craw, because an equalizer was precisely what Little Joe needed to make his place in the community come closer to the pattern he wore into his daydreams. Little Joe thought he must be the most pushed-around cowboy in the Texas Panhandle, despite the fact that he was one of the best men on a horse in a region where horsemanship was a high art.

Mounted on a powerful horse, MacFee felt like a powerful man and forgot all about his stature. He was five feet three and weighed a hundred and twenty pounds. He could ride any bronc he ever forked and in a roundup he was tireless.

But in spite of their respect for his prowess on the range, the men in the bunkhouse treated Little Joe like a boy. He had to run all the errands and was the butt of endless practical jokes.

He didn't like it. He took the affront with a good-natured grin, but inside he boiled.

He was determined to be a man among men, in the saloons as well as on the range.

"The old equalizer" was the answer, he decided.

Little Joe's own shooting iron almost never left the bottom of his saddlebag.

Making his great decision, he took it out and strapped it on.

For three months, he spent nearly all of his pay on ammunition, and every day rode alone out into a dry gulch to practice.

He soon found that he was naturally gifted at slinging a gun.

First he worked on ordinary accuracy, then the quick draw.

Now for the trick stuff. He learned to whirl and fire at a target behind, to shoot through the bottom of the holster without drawing, to shoot three milk cans tossed into the air at the same time, and to fan the hammer for quick cocking.

Little Joe even perfected a special whip draw by which, in one circular motion of his hand timed with a quick leap, he pointed and fired and at the same time dropped into a crouch calculated to make an enemy fire too high.

Now, Little Joe figured, he was as good as any notorious trigger-man. Little Joe no longer felt little. He would hold no grudges for the past jokes and insults. But in future, all men would respect him.

Little Joe patted his horse and said: "Tonight the gang in the Red Dog Saloon will see the new Joe MacFee."

As he rode out of the gulch, Little Joe flushed a rabbit. He whipped out his .45, cocked it, drew a bead on the animal, followed it with his sights until it disappeared. Then he dropped his gun back into the holster.

At the bunkhouse, he unstrapped his gunbelt and packed gun and belt back in his saddlebag. His action caught the attention of Rebel Becker, another of the ranch hands.

"What you all doin', pacin' that shootin' iron away?" Rebel Becker, a ranch hand, drawled. "Ah thought you-all was gettin' to be a gun-totin'."

Little Joe grinned.

"No gun-totin' for me," Little Joe said. "I just found out I ain't got the heart to kill even a rabbit."

YUKON JOE EATS FAITHFUL DOG

LILLOOET, B.C. — Yukon Joe, a black-headed trapper, and his faithful husky, Duffy, were as close as man and dog can get in this wilderness area where the sight of the stranger is still a rarity.

They hunted elusive fur-bearing animals. Duffy always tagging at Joe's heels. Then Yukon Joe, that's the only name he's known by, stumbled into a ranch near here and told how the partnership was ended.

Duffy, he said, had saved his life. But Duffy was no more. Faced with starvation when snowbound on a mountainside for 10 days, Joe had eaten the faithful dog.

Rested and re-equipped, Yukon Joe headed back for the bush—alone.

WILL "COUNTING SHEEP" HELP YOU TO SLEEP?

If sleeplessness is caused by being overtired, nervous, run-down and worried — it takes more than "counting sheep" to help you sleep. Though you toss and turn, hour after hour, you can't "wish" yourself to sleep!

Many find that taking a tonic regularly is beneficial — and helps them rest more easily at night. And Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is first choice by thousands! For the Vitamin B<sub>12</sub> and iron and other needed minerals it contains are sometimes just what your system lacks.

And Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does so much to build you up — by increasing appetite and improving digestion.

So if worry, anxiety, a run-down condition of the strenuous pace of modern living is upsetting your nerves so you can't relax and rest — try taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for a while. The name "Dr. Chase" is your assurance.

Trappers Say Wolves Kill More Caribou Than Scientists Claim

CHURCHILL, Man. — Reports from trappers in the caribou country indicate that about 40 barren-land caribou are slaughtered for every wolf in the district. The estimate came from men who winter in the district. They took issue with statements made by scientists who spent the summer in the area. They said the scientists apparently based their findings on finding few caribou remains around wolf dens. The trappers say the slaughter of the graceful animals takes place in the winter, and that remains of the kill are not dragged to wolf dens. In the summer, when the men were conducting their research, the trappers say the wolf feeds mostly on small animals, eggs, birds, and vegetation. When the spring-born pups are old enough to eat meat, the female leads them to the caribou herds. One trapper, Angus F. MacIver, said after an expedition up the Churchill river that wolves are bigger, hungrier, more numerous and more destructive this year than ever before in his experience. Food caches on the ground have been raided, and in one instance two trapped wolves were torn from the traps, carried off and eaten by the pack.

PEGGY

JUST SLIDE INTO A BOOTH, PROFESSOR. I'LL CALL YOU WHEN YOUR PRESCRIPTION IS FILLED.

HONESTLY, DOTTIE, I HAD THE TIGHTEST TIME OF MY LIFE... FIRST I GOT ANGINA PECTORIS, AND THEN ARTERIOSCLEROSIS, DOUBLED PNEUMONIA AND PTYSIS... THEN THEY SAWE ME HYPODERMICS...

...APPENDICITIS CAME NEXT AND TONSILLITIS... BUT WHAT REALLY GOT ME WAS APHAGIA...

...HYPERTROPHIC CIRRHOSIS, RHEUMATISM AND NEURITIS... I DON'T KNOW HOW I EVER PULLED THROUGH IT... IT WAS SIMPLY THE ICICIEST SPELLING-BEE I'VE EVER SEEN IN...
